

McClellan Favors Reclamation Project

Washington, Feb. 18 —(AP)—Senator McClellan wants congress to authorize a reclamation program in the Grand Prairie and Bayou Meto region of Arkansas.

He introduced a bill yesterday for the projected work, estimated cost of which is $25,183,000 plus $1,097,000 for land.

The project, consisting mainly of drainage and water storage, would be handled by the U.S. engineers and would benefit 400,000 acres, McClellan said.

AMA Flays Assessment Protesters

Chicago, Feb. 18 —(AP)—Leaders of the American Medical Association today sharply criticized 136 physicians who last week protested a $25 AMA assessment to fight compulsory health insurance legislation.

The association leaders' reply said that "the circulation and issuance of the doctor's protest is an unfortunate disservice to the cause of the medical profession of the United States."

"It is not based on knowledge or fact as to the policies or activities of the American Medical Association."

The rebuff, signed by all of the association's officers and directors, was published in the current journal of the AMA.

The 136 physicians signed a statement which said in part that if the $25 levy on AMA members is "to be used for propaganda and legislative lobbying instead of developing a comprehensive medical care program, we are heartily opposed to the levy and shall refuse to pay it x x x."

The reply stated that "not one of the members of the protest attempted through direct inquiry to the headquarters or to any official of the association" to determine the AMA's plans and program.

The AMA statement said purpose for which the assessment fund is to be spent has been published and that "this fund is not for lobbying, nor in any way a slush fund."

The money will be spent, the officers and directors said, chiefly for "education of the American people as to the present high quality of medical service in our country, as to the inevitable deterioration, as shown in other countries, associated with a governmental system of medical care, and also to accelerate in every way possible the enrollment of people in voluntary hospitalization and medical care plans."

Meanwhile, the AMA program to combat compulsory health insurance swung into gear today with the mailing of directives to state campaign chairmen and secretaries of state medical associations.

The campaigns is being directed by the public relations firm of Whitaker and Baxter.

Clem Whitaker, formerly of San Francisco whose office is in Chicago, said the chief objective will be to stimulate grass roots awareness of the public "of the creeping paralysis of bureaucratic regimentation of the people's lives."

He criticized Oscar Ewing, the Federal Security administrator, whom he called the "patent medicine man" for a "deliberate attempt to hide from the people the true cost and social consequences of the scheme of socialized medicine which he is proposing."

Registration of Tires Gets Senate Okay

Little Rock, Feb. 18 —(AP)—A proposed auto tire registration requirement was on its way toward becoming Arkansas law today.

The senate late yesterday passed a bill to set up the registration system. The measure previously had been passed by the house.

Only Governor McNair's signature remained to make the bill an act.

The bill provides that title to every motor vehicle shall be registered with the revenue commissioner. Heavy penalties would be imposed against persons selling or operating vehicles which have not been registered.

Sponsors said a registration law would make Arkansas less desirable as a "dumping ground" for stolen automobiles.

Two other bills passed by the senate were designed to tighten sales tax collections.

One would prescribe physical, educational and age qualifications for revenue department auditors; the other would authorize the Arkansas revenue commissioner to enter into reciprocal pacts with other states and the federal government for exchange of tax information. The latter bill was designed particularly as an effort to reduce importation into the state of cigarettes on which Arkansas taxes are not paid.

Under a bill introduced carriers operating under supervision of the Arkansas Public Service commission would pay a tax of one-fifth of one per cent of gross revenues earned in Arkansas. Proceeds would help to defray costs of the commission. A similar levy already is in effect against utility companies under supervision of the commission, but power lines and motor carriers also were placed under the regulatory body in 1945, the tax was not extended to them.

The house passed bills to place salaries of county school superintendents on a par with those of teachers; to permit cities of the second class to establish police courts; to exempt advertising in trade journals from the sales tax; to require that insanity pleas in criminal cases be entered in advance of trial dates, and to prohibit cities and counties from taxing automobiles furnished by the government to amputee-veterans.

Russians Strip Berlin Buildings

In front of Hitler's Reichschancellery, in the Russian sector of Berlin, women workers tear up paving stones. They'll be used to reconstruct buildings for the Russian-sponsored "People's Council," the Soviet's new government for East Germany. The Reichschancellery's costly Italian marble and mosaics are also being torn out, and will go into a memorial to the Red Army.

Pop Goes the Queen

By Bob Wade and Bill Miller

THE STORY: John Henry and Sin Conover, vacationing at a swank resort, witness the death of a mysterious man named Homer Anglin. Later the Conover quarters are occupied by Faye Jordan, under the pretext of a reservation. Anglin, and his luggage searched. But the searchers failed to find a cipher message in a mechanical pencil that Anglin put in Johnny's pocket before he died. Believing they have been mistaken for someone else because they have been called "Mr. and Mrs. Jones," John Henry and Sin try to question other suspicious folks at the resort. Sin is told not to "interfere" by Sagmore Robotom, an archeologist. Faye takes John Henry to a gambling ranch where Johnny suddenly finds himself in company with Lieutenant Lay, the police officer who is investigating Anglin's murder and who thinks Johnny hasn't told all he knows.

John Henry put the concealing wrap back in place. The sudden ly, he opened the heavy door next to the slot machines and pushed her out into the dimness of the entrance hall. The closing door slit off the light and the excited moan of conversation with one swift stroke.

"Morning," John Henry replied shamelessly and seized the rye. Faye had already downed hers and was regarding Lay with interest.

She asked, "What's your racket stranger?"

"This is Lieutenant Lay of the Azure police, Faye," said John Henry, digging an elbow in her ribs.

She giggled. "I like policemen."

"Well," said John Henry nervously, "good to have seen you again, Lieutenant. Now, if you'll excuse us—"

"Don't run off," said Lay evenly and his lone made. John Henry sank back into the bar stool again. "I haven't seen you playing out there, Mr. Conover. What could you be doing here? Here, of all places."

"Go ahead, Johnny," Faye urged. "Toll him."

"It's very simple," he said. "I don't know."

"See!" Triumphantly, she downed the second shot glass of rye which the barkeep had quickly refilled. After a moment's consideration, she also drank Conover's fresh ginger.

"You wouldn't be figuring on following up Anglin's killing, would you?" asked Lay. He toiled with the tall glass of beer that gilded before him on the bar.

John Henry's pulse raced. "Why do you think this is the place for it?"

"I didn't say that. I was just surprised to see you without your wife."

"Convenient," said Lay and took a sip of beer. He put his glass down and gazed through the archway at the midday turbulence in the other room. "Yeah," he said, as if continuing a conversation.

"It's illegal, all right, Conover. But in a hopped-up town like this there's some things a cop has to keep his eyes close about. It's not as if it was my department," he looked at John Henry and smiled sardonically. "Here's to crime."

He raised his beer.

John Henry lifted his own glass, saw that it was empty and remembered Faye. The black-haired girl was in the front row at the roulette table arguing with the police croupier. "I better go over," Conover said.

"What's the trouble now, Faye?" he asked blowing up behind her.

"Johnny!" She squealed with delight. "I'm so glad you could come!"

"You brought me, remember?" This madman," explained Faye, testifying at the croupier who had halted his roulette wheel. "He won't let me play! Sock him in the nose, Johnny."

The eyes of the crowd turned approvingly on her shrieked champagne. John Henry felt the blood coloring the back of his neck. He fastened determined fingers on Faye's soft shoulder. "Come on!" he grunted and propelled her away from the table toward the door at the far end of the casino.

No one was playing the slot machines. John Henry halted there and spun the girl sharply around to face him. "Now snap out of it, Faye," John Henry grunted. "You need a reason for bringing me out here. What was it?"

Faye's sleek braided head nodded slowly. "Gotta have words. Got something I wanna tell you," she whispered.

"What is it?"

Faye Jordan looked around cautiously. "Too many people. Everybody's listening."

"Okay. We'll go back to the car." Still holding Faye's left arm

Fellowship Meet Held at Tabernacle

The Fellowship Meeting of the churches in the Hope Section of the Arkansas District Council of the Assemblies of God met at Hope Gospel Tabernacle for a 3 o'clock and a 7:30 meeting Thursday. The meeting was presided over by the Sectional Presbyter, Rev. C. B. Anderson of Magnolia. Rev. David Burris, district superintendent, of Hot Springs, spoke in the afternoon meeting. Rev. C. C. Crace of El Dorado spoke at the evening service.

There were eighteen churches represented: Magnolia, Stamps, Bradley, Texarkana, Foreman, Ailene, Ashdown, DeQueen, Nashville, Ben Lomond, Prescott, Piney Grove, Hot Springs, Canaan Land, Malvern, Murfreesboro, Sand Hill and El Dorado. Thirty ministers were present and a good number of visiting laymen.

A missionary offering was raised for the Home Missions department amounting to almost $100.00, and another special offering was lifted to assist in beginning a new work in Bradley, this offering amounted to $100.00. The Fellowship Meeting for the month of March will be held in Ponke.

Dinner was served by the ladies of the Tabernacle at the Fellowship Hall at 6:00 o'clock to 150 people. Mrs. J. W. Manney was in charge of the dining hall.

change from glare to gloom made his head feel funny.

Faye had propped away down the long corridor. She opened the door to what appeared a combination library and den.

"In here," she whispered.

He followed her in. The room was stuffy. John Henry went across to the open window that broke the wall of books. No air at all seemed to enter the library.

Faye had closed the door and was peeping back into the hall through the keyhole.

"What are you looking for?" he asked. The carpet tilted a little while he focused on her. He reached for the desk to steady himself and it moved away. Faye got up and walked toward him.

John Henry squinted. She was walking up hill and she got farther away. Then there were two of her, a dozen, a whole room full.

He couldn't count Faye Jordan any more because all of her were performing a weird dance that glided around him, faster and faster. The last thing he heard was the chorus of Faye, giggling.

Melodious Voice Has Strange Money Powers

Los Angeles, Feb. 18 —(AP)—Music undeniably hath charms.

Trained by a confederate, a well-dressed young man walked into a quiet bar last night, ordered a drink and sat down at the piano. Soon he began to play and sing most melodiously.

The other patrons and the manager, Robert H. Rosen, called for more.

"With a voice like that," said Rosen, "you ought to be able to make a lot of money."

The youth agreed. And to prove the point, he and his companion produced guns, took $240 from the cash register and left, humming softly.

Game Group Withstands Attacks

Little Rock, Feb. 18 —(AP)—The game and fish commission and the legislative council again have withstood attacks in the Arkansas house.

But the battle over the University of Arkansas' budget still is unsettled.

Action on the game and fish commission centered around that agency's annual budget of $825,000 which the house adopted by a 76-14 margin in late yesterday.

Rep. Paul Van Valdem of Perry county sought unsuccessfully to have two $5,000 items removed. Then he tried to get the entire budget rejected when it came up for final passage. The day before he had sought to reduce the salary of the executive secretary T. A. McCamis, and earlier in the session he introduced a resolution seeking McCamis' removal.

The legislative council, created without operating funds two years ago, was criticized and defended. Toland Burris of Pope called up his bill to repeal the act. Burris' bill failed, 28-45.

The highly controversial university budget of $3,890,000 annually occupied the house, as a committee of the whole, for a full hour before the legislature finally quit work at 6 p. m. No final decision was reached.

In its committee of the whole session, the board questioned university Vice President T. C. Canty and board chairman Herbert L. Thomas. The latter explained why he believed the university should be allowed to operate under a "flexible" budget rather than the itemized allotment of requests such as some legislators have demanded.

Other budget matters occupied most of the house's time during the day.

Expenditure of $250,000 to purchase land adjoining the capitol was approved. Other annual appropriations approved included $116,335 annually for the girls training ice bureau, $564,200 for the state police department, $75,023 for state capitol and grounds and $45,870 for the confederate home.

The house received an administration measure to reenact a state property tax of 8.7 mills for the year 1950. Three per cent of proceeds would be allocated to the general fund, 11 per cent to the welfare fund for old age pensions and 86 per cent to the proposed state medical center on the state hospital grounds here.

Also introduced was a measure

Michigan Students Have That Hungry Feeling

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 18 —(AP)—A University of Michigan junior said today that he would try to outeat a hog.

The contest is scheduled for Friday between Paul H. Smith, an engineering student, and Broadway perfect lad, a four-month old hog.

Both will weigh in as weller weights—at 165 pounds. Smith hopes to match pound for pound of food with the hog until the animal calls it quits.

The contest climaxed a growing series of gastronomical feasts on the campus. One student ate 48 oysters and a second bested him by eating 76. A girl student at 12 1/2 hamburgers, falling half a burger short of the intercollegiate record.

Dr. Warren E. Forsythe of the university health service, called the exhibitions "disgusting" and remarked:

"You could go and get a hog to eat more than that."

Smith said he would try to prove Dr. Forsythe wrong.

to increase the homestead exemption from the state property tax from $2,000 to $2,500.

Another bill would appropriate $34,000 to pay expenses of issuance of the newly-voted highway bonds. Largest single item is $25,000 for fees of bond counsel.

Green Shirt Brings Arrest of Robbers

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 18 —(AP)—A man's soiled green shirt found stuffed in a tourist cabin chair led to the arrest of two men charged with robbing a Memphis bank of $43,000, the FBI said last night.

The men were arrested in a Miami, Fla., bar yesterday where they were gaily drinking with two women companions. The FBI said more than $40,000 was recovered.

FBI Agent Don Hostetter identified the men as John Eugene Anderson, 27, of St. Louis and Horace Alexander, 35, home address unknown.

They were charged with violation of the national bank robbery act and held in a Miami jail under $25,000 bond each.

The women also were held. Hostetter said Mrs. John Anderson, 28, and Mrs. Mabel Elizabeth Serogins, 27, were held under $10,000 bond each as material witnesses.

The robbery occurred at a branch of the First National bank here Feb. 28.

Two men, with drawn guns, entered the bank shortly before closing, ordered several customers to line up against the wall and forced bank employees to fill a paper sack with bundles of money.

Hostetter said bundles of the money, still neatly wrapped with bands stamped with the Memphis bank's name, were among the $30,000 in bills found in a suitcase locked in the trunk of the prisoners' convertible.

The FBI said a green shirt belonging to one of the men was found after a search of all tourist camps near Memphis on the day of the robbery. Labels and laundry marks, he said, put the investigation into high gear.

Both men denied the charges. And the FBI said the women claimed they knew nothing of the events of the afternoon of the robbery.

Hostetter said the investigation led to FBI offices in St. Louis, Philadelphia, Little Rock, New Orleans and finally, Florida.

He said the men were taken to New York, now a Negro center in Harlem, was once a village on Manhattan Island.

Pioneers Carve a Home in Israel

In Northern Israel, pioneers are at work carving a home out of the deserted lands of Galilee. Settlements are springing up, like this one, to be called Beth Haaravah. Ninety Jews from the United States and Canada are part of its population. First step is the erecting of wooden houses. In the background are the Galilee Mountains. DOROTHY DIX Homesick Wives

Dear Miss Dix: We have recently moved 90 miles away from our old home and I am very unhappy. I want to go back and be with my folks and my old friends, but my husband says he has too good a job to give up, which I realize is true. But I am very homesick, although I have a good husband of whom I am very fond and two half-grown children.

Do you think I should keep using my husband to give up his present occupation and move back to our old home in which he would have less opportunity of success, but where I would be happy and contented?

M. M. M.
Answer: I have been deluged so often with tears of homesick wives that I have sometimes thought that would prevent women from marrying any man who would take them more than ten miles away from

Mama. Of course, that is mere wishful thinking, impossible of realization, for by some curious quirk of fate strangers have a fatal attraction for each other and men and women are more apt to fall in love with somebody they hardly know by sight than they are with their next-door neighbors.

In all life there are few things more pitiful than the bride who starts off with the husband she scarcely knows to the new home in which she will be a stranger among strangers. Her husband will be at work all day. In the little bird's nest of a house she will have little gossip with and no matter how much she loves her husband, there will be times when she would almost give her soul to be back with Mother and the girls.

Older Women, Too
And it is not only the brides who suffer from homesickness. There are thousands of middle-aged women who cannot bear being uprooted and who wreck their husbands' business rather than move away from Mother or break up their bridge foursome.

It takes a lot of love and a lot of courage for a wife to break all of her old ties and stand shoulder to shoulder with husband in seeking his fortune in far places. But it is what the worthwhile women of all time have done. It is what the pioneer woman does who helps her husband, instead of being a millstone around his neck. Try it, and you will be too busy to be homesick.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We hear a lot about being Good Neighbors. Fine. But why, in a big city full of organizations giving lectures on how to live, don't you tell us that stress on the little things that would make us more agreeable to have next door? Why, for instance, should it not be de rigeur to wear scuffed slippers on linoleum and hardwood floors? Why should we not take two hands to close a door instead of slamming it and making everyone within earshot jump? Why should not able-bodied men and women lift chairs instead of dragging them over floors? Why not keep radios down to a soft pitch? And why, oh why, take baths at one o'clock in the morning and wake up all the light sleepers? The whole world is struggling to get the Good Neighbor spirit, but how can it succeed when the majority of people think that it doesn't mean them, but YOU?

7TH FLOOR SUFFERER
Answer: And why should people who are really not about to crippling their neighbors, let their children leave their darling little wagons on the steps where everybody is bound to fall over them? Why should your friends borrow your books and never return them? Why should the people who live above you in an apartment have a mania for giving parties that keep everybody awake and threaten to bring down the ceiling on your head?

Why do parents let their children howl and scream at their play instead of being taught to at least moderate their voices? When practically everyone has a telephone, why do self-invited guests never take the trouble to warn you that they are going to drop in for dinner? Why should—oh, but what's the use? We don't even know why we do what we do ourselves.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a boy of 15. I can't do my school work no matter how hard I try, so I want to quit school; but my father won't permit me to do so. Can you advise me what to do?

A. C.
Answer: I think what you need is to change schools. What you need is not to leave school, but to have some sympathetic teacher study your case and find out why you do not understand what you are trying to do. Can't you talk

Billikens Take 17th Victory

New York, Feb. 18 — (AP) — The St. Louis Billikens, ranked second in the latest national basketball poll, picked up victory Number 17
last night.

St. Louis whammed Wichita, 69
to 45, in a Missouri Valley Conference struggle. Wichita stayed close until midway of the second half.
"Easy Ed" MacAuley again
sprinkled the Bills with 21 points.
Western Kentucky, ranked No. 7, trimmed Morehead (Ky) 69-49 for its 21st victory in 24 starts as Hamline, No. 9, dropped its second game to the Phillips Oilers, Olympic champions 49-40. Hamline's five-man team played the whole game,
unusual in this day of rapid-fire
basketball, but the iron man act failed.

Bradley, ranked 12th, breezed against Oklahoma City 69-49, for its 22nd triumph in 27 games, but Duke, ranked 22nd, was upset
by Cincinnati, 50-50.

Auburn nipped Florida, 44-43, in the Southeastern conference, and Rhode Island State rallied in the second half to take St. Josephs of Philadelphia, 67-52.

In other games, Arizona beat Texas Mines, 63-48; Georgetown of Washington edged Maryland, 59-52
and Hardin Simmons trimmed New Mexico, 54-49.

At a Madison Square Garden
doubleheader Long Island edged Seton Hall in the opener, 57-53, then CCNY dropped a 66-64 overtime decision to Niagara.

Villanova Ace Crashes Near Top Score List

New York, Feb. 17 — (AP) — Paul Arizin of Villanova, who scored 35 points in a single game Saturday night, was one of three new men to crash the nation's top 10 basketball scorers this week.

Tony Lavelli, Yale's hook shot wizard, continued to the No. 1 spot figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic bureau. They include games through last Saturday.

Lavelli's average was 22.4 points per game for 20 games. Joe Noertker of Virginia was second with 21.5 and Ernie Vandeweghe of Colgate third with 21.4.

Arizin's performance against the Philadelphia Naval Air Material center broke the previous all-time mark by two points. It moved the Villanova ace from 22nd nationally to fourth and jumped his season's average from 16.4 per game to 21.

The other new faces in the select group were Alex Groza of Kentucky in eighth place and Fred Schaus of West Virginia in 10th.
Groza was 11th a week ago and Schaus 13th.

The newcomers replaced Dick Schmittner of Ohio State, who was fifth, Larry Foust of LaSalle (Philadelphia) who was ninth and Phil
Kelly of Manhattan who was 10th.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Feb. 17 — (AP) — While most sports promoters are worried about future television competition, the guys who run indoor track meets are finding it already has arrived. Dan Ferris, revealing that ticket sales for Saturday's AAU meet aren't going too well, adds that fans have told him they like TV better than the actual meets because they can see and hear more than they could at the Garden. "Why, one fellow came in and asked to buy some programs for the New York A. C.
meet in advance so he could follow
it better on television," Dan gasps.

Van Buren Still Best Pro Loop Ground Gainer

Philadelphia, Feb. 17 — (UP) — Steve Van Buren, 49-year-old grid-ironer for a total of 29 years and in succession won the National Football League individual ground gaining championship.

The Philadelphia Eagles' ace, who clinched the season by scoring the winning touchdown in the championship, playoff against the Chicago Cardinals, finished his 102 yards as a professional just 102 yards off the all-time league record.

Ground gaining champion in 1945

single season record of 1,064 yards,
the former Louisiana state block-

3,758 yards. The all-time career record is 3,800, set by Clark Hinkle

10-year stretch from 1932 to 1941.

Charley Trippi and Elmer Angsman of the Cardinals finished sec-

690 and 638 yards. Fourth place went to Camp Wilson of the Detroit Lions with 612 and Tony with 589.

There Actually Is Little Doubt That America Will Fight in Event of a War

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Secretary of State Acheson yesterday entered the warm debate
over the projected North Atlantic alliance with the declaration that the United States proposes to make it an effective security pact.

This followed Monday's senate discussion which demonstrated a strong opposition to making any pledge which would lead other members of the alliance to expect American-armed aid to the automatic in case they are attacked. That is to say, the opponents wouldn't pledge the country to go to war in advance of the event, but would make the decision when the crisis arose.

Because of this there is uneasiness among other prospective alliance members who want absolute assurances of American aid. The countries concerned, besides America, are Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Norway and Denmark also are considering joining, and there might be others.

Acheson emphasized that there are no real differences in regard to the objectives which this government is seeking to accomplish.
He cited President Truman's inauguration speech as a principal statement of American policy. The chief executive then said the primary purpose of regional defense agreements under the U. N. charter "is to provide unmistakable proof of the joint determination of the free countries to exist armed against any aggressor."

The signs now are that the prospective members of the alliance will have to be satisfied with this clear declaration of determination.
One inevitably recalls the worldrecking debate over this same issue in the senate back in 1920.
That august body then refused to ratify the German peace treaty mainly because it included the covenant of the League of Nations. The covenant to turn contending parties over to a panel of

Harvard Youth Takes Figure Skating Title

Paris, Feb. 18 — (UP) — Con-tinentals impresarios clamored today for Dick Button to make a long series of exhibitions in Europe, but the 19-year-old Englewood, N. Y., boy planned to take his second world's figure skating championship back to Harvard as quickly as possible.

Button said he would give one exhibition at Paris tomorrow and another at London Friday, then he'd be home to complete his freshman year in college.

Button bordered on the perfect
as he won his second world's championship last night with a complicated series of figures in the free skating portion of the competition.
He had piled up a huge lead
Wednesday in the compulsory figures portion of the meet.

The crowd of 15,000 at the Palais Des Sports applauded him for five full minutes after he completed his performance.

Bomb Destroys Home of Night Club Owner

Beverly Hills, Calif., Feb. 18 —
(UP) — A bomb early today destroyed the "entire front end" of the home of H. D. Hoyer, owner of Ciro's night club and popular man about Hollywood, police reported.

No one was injured, but the blast
shook all Beverly Hills and shuttered windows for five blocks.

The bomb was thrown into the front bedroom and "blew the front of the house clear across the street," police said.

Hoyer, former partner of producer Earl Carroll and veteran of many years in show business, said
he was having no labor troubles and had no idea who threw the bomb.

The police department was swamped with calls from frightened residents.
"It created an awful furor in the district," said Lt. Claude Marple.

Around the Arkansas Sport Loop

By CARL BELL

Little Rock, Feb. 18 — (AP) — Maybe you've been wondering how the Arkansas Razorbacks can be leading the Southwest conference basketball race and yet have only one player among the loop's top ten scorers. And with that one, Bob Ambler, ranking fifth.

Teamwork is the answer. A balanced team is better than one with an individual star upon which it depends. In the latter case, a team is sunk when the one star
is bottled up or has an off night.

You get a good idea of the Razorbacks' balance by looking at the individual scoring records. The five regular starters are bunched
very closely in point-making.

Ambler is out front with 187
points for the season. The others rank like this: Ken Kearns 150,
Johnny Campbell 128, Cliff Horton 116 and Jimmy Cathcart 114.

Hot Springs is "adopting"
Ouchita college athletic teams.
The Tigers from Arkansas will play one football game and several baseball tilts in the resort city in 1949. They will compete in at least two track meets there and plan to schedule basketball games
there for next winter.

Said Joe Dildy, Hot Springs high school coach, of the plans:
"Ouchita will fill a big vacancy
in collegiate sports at Hot Springs.
They are more than welcome to our complete facilities."

And Ouchita Business Manager
Leonard Price commented:
"This may mean a new day for the entire Ouchita athletic program. Hot Springs has opened the door for us."

Norman Farley, who drove the bus carrying the Arkansas State College wrestling team on a recent trip, had never seen a grappling match until last Friday night.
That night at Chattanooga university he watched a member of the State team, Dave Bishop, suffer an injury that put him out of action.

The next night Farley substituted for Bishop in a match against Auburn after driving the bus on to the Alabama city. He lost, but at least he plugged up the gap.

The Razorbacks defeated the Texas Longhorns twice last week.
But in this week's AP basketball poll, Texas received 13 vote points
in its final week.

Broadcasters Oppose Payments to Athletic Group

Little Rock, Feb. 18 — (AP) — The Arkansas Broadcasters Association
opposes payment to the Arkansas Athletic Association for broadcast rights to AAA-sponsored high school sports events.

A committee headed by Sam
Anderson, president KJFA, Helena, was named to discuss the situation with the AAA after a resolution opposing the practice was adopted at a broadcasters meeting here yesterday.

Sponsors said there was no objection to selling broadcast rights to a commercial sponsor. The opposition is to the AA seeking payment from individual radio stations.

The ABA also:
Approved legislation in the national congress "to limit the power of radio broadcast stations" and in the Arkansas legislature to extend to radio news writers the same immunity from revealing
sources of information that newspaper reporters have.

Adopted a resolution calling on members to use the phrase "Arkansas, The Land of Opportunity," in identifying their stations on the air.

Some Land Profits by Weather

Washington, Feb. 18 — (UP)—The western blizzards and snow storms have actually had their good points, the agriculture department said today.

Crop and pasture prospects have benefited from them, the department said, particularly in the Great Plains where snow, where droughts are not uncommon.

But the good effects might be heavily outweighed by the bad, officials indicated.

Yesterday the department warned that the heavy snows could cause devastating floods in the lowlands when they melt, especially if spring rains come at the same time.

Officials noted that the department previously had reported that the snows had greatly improved and irrigation water supplies throughout much of the midwest and west. In the Great Plains, for instance, rain and snow were said to have been four to six times above normal up to Feb. 1.

Precipitation had been below normal, the department said, only along the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts and a narrow strip along the Mexican border.

But in some instances, the snow and rain has been too heavy for winter wheat. The weather bureau reported yesterday that melting snow had drowned out the wheat crop in some sections of Kansas, while the excessive moisture and periods of warm weather in some sections had caused abnormal growth for this time of the year.

As another example of the bad effect of the recent heavy winter rain and snowfalls, harvesting of corn and soybeans was delayed.

6th Graders Hear Report on Africa

All the sixth grades in Hope met at the Brookwood auditorium last Friday morning to hear Dr. William Edwards talk on "Africa." Dr. Edwards lives in the Belgian Congo and gave the group first-hand information on many customs practiced there. This talk was quite timely in that the sixth grades have been busy on a unit on Africa for the past few days.

Billie Williams and Sandra Robbins from Mrs. Alva Williams' sixth grade in Brookwood told the radio audience last Friday how they had made different types of maps of Africa.

The fourth grades were quite busy last week throughout the Hope Schools. In Mrs. Forney Holt's room at Brookwood attractive Weekly Reader covers were made by the children and Jackie Willis told the radio audience about it, while Jackie Moran gave what the boys and girls had learned about Abraham Lincoln, the sixteen.

The culminating activity was a play given in the auditorium. Mary Jo Rogers gave an interesting report on other activities going on.

Donna Sue Freeman informed us on the valuable unit—"Foods" which was finished in Mrs. Witt's room in Paisley School. The boys and girls put into practice some of the things they had learned when they prepared mid-morning refreshments in their room. The "salad" must have been one of those "specials" we hear about.

Mrs. Ward's fourth grade visited the post office last week, since they had been having a postal unit. All the children were quite surprised to find that many people have to be busy early in the morning before they receive their mail. Charles Ruggles not only gave an interesting report of their trip, but he also helped Jerry Wilson in helping their classmates get to and from the post office safely.

These boys were elected in their room to be auxiliary patrolmen.

Miss Mamie Bell Holt's fifth grade in Garland has made a record on their mid-term silent reading test of which we are very happy. The class median was 68.8. Joe Polk and Bill Bridges led the class with scores of 76. Those pupils ranking second were Ginny Hemdon Carolyn Jane West, Linda Betts and Patricia McGill with scores of 75. Others reading with seventh grade ability according to this test were Dick Broach, Donna Kennedy, and Billy Fred Johnson.

Of course these scores seem quite high and they are higher than those tests given by the teacher, as the scale given in the Weekly Reader test includes scores of children all over the nation both low and high.

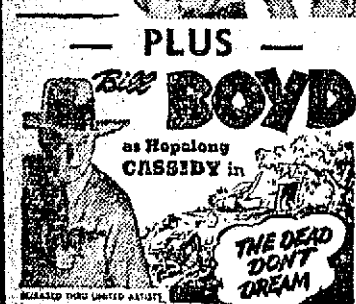

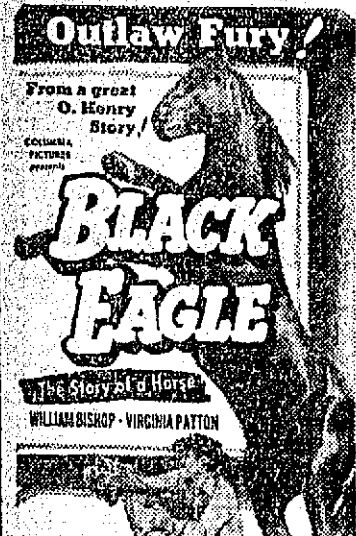

The Third Grade of Garland School after performing on Student Parade Thursday journeyed by school bus Friday to the radio station KXAR to hear the recording of their performance. The children were surprised to hear how their voices sounded on the air and they discovered some mistakes in their songs that they can correct. They were fascinated by the teletype machine, the big turntables and the extensive record library.
